How do I choose a container for industrial use?

When considering containers for industrial use,use uniquely-shaped itemssuch as caulking tubes that have plungers to provide easy dispensing. Fit chemical bottles with trigger sprayer tops that release products in a mist,or tamper-evident caps that provide extra protection from alteration.

What are the best containers for storing and shipping chemicals?

Cansmade from steel are sturdy and resist corrosion,making them another good choice for storing and shipping chemicals. They can come with dauber or brush caps,both of which allow you to apply contents with precision. Select bottles may be UN rated,allowing you to ship chemicals or other products internationally.
